POP ART

Characteristics of Pop

Andy Warhol
Mao
1972

- ▶ Opposition to the actions and spontaneous techniques of AbEx
- ▶ Complete removal of the artist's hand and question of originality
- ▶ The idea was not to expand what could go into museums but to take art out from the barriers of art institutions and out into the public spaces.
- ▶ Instead of the seriousness of the AbEx, these works were light hearted, humorous and accessible
- ▶ Return of the Dada ideas (Readymade, manufactured aesthetic, critique of elitism of art)

Abstract Expressionism

Beginning of Pop art

1952: Independent Group (earliest pop artists come together in London)

1956: IG is dissolved

1961: British and American artists collaborate

1962: "pop art" used in the US for the first time

Historical context

- ▶ Extreme economic and political growth in the US following WWII
- ▶ New forms of media, industrial development, new cultural phenomena- pop music, Hollywood, television (instead of radio) gaining popularity
- ▶ Processes and images emphasised new age of commodity and industrialisation
- ▶ Critical juncture for the artists- how to address the trauma of the post war period (to follow AbEx or not?)

Early Pop

Jasper Johns, Flag, 1954-55

Early Pop

- ▶ Flag- immediately recognisable symbol
- ▶ First major work that broke away from AbEx style- retains a technique that allows for gestural texture
- ▶ main difference was that while AbEx completely abandoned the image, the central meaning of this work with directly linked to Jasper Johns choice of images.

Jasper Johns, Flag, 1954-55

As an iconic image--comparable to the targets, maps, and letters that he also has depicted- Johns realized that the flag was "seen and not looked at, not examined."

Warhol's 'Marilyn,' at $195 Million, Shatters Auction Record for an American Artist

At Christie's sale for charity, the glamorous silk-screen beat out Basquiat's skull painting that had set a record in 2017.

I am so honored to be wearing the iconic dress that Marilyn Monroe wore in 1962 to sing "Happy Birthday" to President John F. Kennedy. It is a stunning skintight gown adorned with more than 6,000 hand-sewn crystals by costumier Jean Louis.

Thank you Ripley's Believe It or Not! for giving me the opportunity to debut this evocative piece of fashion history for the first time since the late Marilyn Monroe wore it. I am forever grateful for this moment. ✨🕊️

Was Pop a critique or valorisation of celebrity?

Considering popular culture today, how is our perception of celebrity similar or different?

Comedy

"At that time I was interested in anything I could use as a subject that was emotionally strong – usually love, war, or something that was highly-charged and emotional subject matter. Also, I wanted the subject matter to be opposite to the removed and deliberate painting techniques." –Roy Lichtenstein

"I was very excited about, and interested in, the highly emotional content yet detached, impersonal handling of love, hate, war, etc. in these cartoon images." -Roy Lichtenstein

Ben-Day dots: An inexpensive mechanical printing method developed in the late 19th century. The method relies upon small colored dots (typically cyan, magenta, yellow, and black) that are variously spaced and combined to create shading and colors in images.

Was Pop art successful in breaking down barriers of "high" versus "low" art?

What makes these images so iconic? What has made them stand the test of time?

How do you think social media plays a role in how we consume works? What is our understanding of “popular” today?
